

PARENTAL RELEASE FORM

The federal Family Education Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), also known as the "Buckley Amendment," directs CSU Monterey Bay (CSUMB) to keep certain student records private from third parties and to make others available for inspection and copying by students. Under the federal regulations implementing the act, every student in attendance at the University or who has been in attendance here has a right to inspect and review their "educational records." This includes a right to a response for explanations and interpretations of records and the right to obtain copies of the records.

RELEASING STUDENT INFORMATION

The University may not disclose certain information from a student's record without first obtaining the written consent of the student. Parents and Guardians of University students do not have the right to have access to these records and are treated as any other member of the public unless the student has given written consent for release of such records to them. Students living in on-campus housing, may consent to having their housing account and conduct history shared with their parent or guardian by completing the form below and turning it into Student Housing & Residential Life. This is in addition to any paperwork the student may submit to the University.
